

The Franklin Five

MARCH

- Practice Law 3: When Your Daily Practices Reflect Your Governing Values, You Experience Inner Peace
Inner peace is all about discovering what's important to you and doing something about it. Now that you've made a list of your values, turn them into goals and tasks that will help you act accordingly. Write them in your planner to ensure they are accomplished.
- Clean Your Car
As the weather begins to warm up, take the time to clean out your car, making it feel fresh and renewed. Declutter, remove the things that don't belong there, shake out the car mats, and head to the car wash.
- Go Through Your Wardrobe
Most people wear 20% of their clothes 80% of the time. Give yourself more storage space by sifting through your clothes. Decide what you still want to wear and what you can pass along to someone else.
- Check Your Forms
If you use forms regularly in your planner, it may be time to restock. If you aren't using forms, now is a good time to take a look at our selection. You may be surprised at how they can help with your planning, organization, and goals.
- Plan Your Garden
If the weather isn't warm enough for you to dig in the dirt, draw out your garden in your planner. Decide which plants you want to grow this year and determine where and when you'll plant them.
