

- Practice Law 4: To Reach Any Significant Goal, You Must Leave Your Comfort Zone

People have a natural tendency to gravitate to places where they feel comfortable, safe, and secure. When you set growth goals you must forsake these old comfortable patterns. Most goals are in direct conflict with the status quo. But remember, if you were happy with the status quo, you wouldn't be stretching for more. How can you push yourself out of your comfort zone and closer to reaching your goals this month?
- Begin Spring Cleaning

However you prefer to clean in the spring, this is the time to roll up your sleeves and dig in. Plan each step in your planner so you aren't overwhelmed – from cleaning ceilings, to kitchen cupboards, right down to the tiny nooks and crannies.
- Spend Time in Nature

The weather should be warming up, making this a great time to go on a walk, plan a picnic, or visit the park. However you decide, the most important thing is to get out and soak up nature.
- Schedule Appointments

We all have appointments that are important but we procrastinate making. Go see your doctor or dentist, take your pet to the vet, or get the oil changed in your car. Even if you have to schedule these on a day far in the future, get a date set and in your planner.
- Get The Garden Ready

In many regions this is a great time to plant bulbs and seeds. It may still be cool, but the flowers will grow as soon as warmer weather arrives. Look back at your plan from last month and plant accordingly. Take note of any changes so you can keep track of your garden throughout the year.
